A big thank you to our FRIES and Ms. Hohenstein, Doyon Librarian, for coordinating our Doyon Devours Books activities, and for all our "Mystery Readers" for reading to our students. As of this moment, Thursday at 11:00 am, Doyon students have read for 19,000 minutes!

The staff would also like to thank FRIES and the Wilbur family for the delicious chocolates in celebration of 100 days of school. What a sweet gesture!

If you haven't already looked at the email that I sent out earlier today, please take a moment to open it and read the letter that is attached.

Crafters Needed!

Doyon School has had several donations of handmade masks for students who may need a replacement during the school day. A special thank you to Ipswich High School senior, Cam Antonakas, for making 50 "kid-friendly" masks...all have been distributed! Other sewing crafters have made wonderful masks and we are down to a precious few.

If you are planning a project, please consider crafting some double layer masks for Doyon students to have as an alternative to the disposable masks.

* Note that we have a generous supply of the disposable masks available at all times for any student who would might need one.
